Brodie, Fawn M. No Man Knows My History The Life of Joseph Smith. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1979. Ninth printing. xx; 499pp. Octavo [21.5 cm] Black cloth with a gilt stamped title on the spine. With bibliography, appendices, and index. Very good. There is a faint indentation in the spine. The front free endsheet has a former owner's name and address. The pages are clean and bright. The dust jacket is in very good condition, with very subtly moisture staining. There is a two inch closed tear in the top edge.

In 1823 a young man named Joseph Smith had an encounter with an angel who led him to a cache of golden plates purporting to be the history of the lost tribes of Israel. Out of these new gospels- and out of Smith's own charismatic personality and sense of mission- arose an authentically American religion, the Mormon faith. But did Joseph Smith transcribe divine revelations or invent a faith from whose cloth? Was h4 a genuine prophet or a gifted fabulist who became enthralled by the products of his imagination- and ended up being martyred for them?

Campbell, Alexander. Christian Baptism: With Its Antecedents and Consequents. Bethany, VA: Printed and published by Alexander Campbell, 1852. Early edition. 444pp. Duodecimo [18.5 cm] Full brown calf with a gilt stamped black leather spine label. Very good. The leather covers are rubbed. There are 2 three-inch cracks at the foot of the spine along the joints. There are tiny losses from the leather at the spine ends. The underlying boards are exposed along the edges, and two small patches of the underlying boards are exposed on the front cover. There is a faint contemporary owner's name on the front flyleaf. The pages are foxed.

*In 1811, Alexander was the pastor of Bull Run Church, a group of Presbyterian refugees. The birth of his first child forced him to revisit his views on infant baptism. He felt that his own infant baptism was invalid, so he sought out a Baptist minister His church then joined the local Baptist association. Alexander journeyed on horseback through the Midwest and South, preaching a modest gospel stripped of "dogma" and "creeds." In 1823 he started The Christian Baptist, a monthly that, wrote editor Campbell, "shall espouse the cause of no religious sect, excepting that ancient sect 'called Christians first at Antioch.'"*

$450.00

Campbell, Alexander [ed.]. Millennial Harbinger, Volume II. Bethany, VA: Printed and Published by the Editor, 1831. 574+48pp. Octavo. 3/4 leather with marbled boards. Good only. Boards rubbed, corners rubbed through, leather splitting at joints, backstrip split at tail, ink stamps on fore edge, notes in pencil on front free endsheet, foxed throughout.

'Delusions' is the important first printed article on Mormonism in book form, reprinted in pamphlet form as the first anti-Mormon tract in 1832. "Campbellites" is a term to describe adherents of the beliefs derived from the American Restoration Movement [Baptist]. This was a rival (to the Mormons) religious movement in Ohio in the 1830's. They were called the "Campbellites", because one of the most prominent leaders was Alexander Campbell. Many Campbellites left the fold to join the Mormons, including Sidney Rigdon and Parley P. Pratt. Scallawagiana 3.

Caswall, Henry. The Prophet of the Nineteenth Century; or the Rise, Progress, and Present State of the Mormons, or Latter-day Saints: To which is appended, an analysis of the Book of Mormon. London: Printed for J.G.F.& J. Rivington, 1843. First edition. 277pp. Octavo [21.5 cm] 3/4 red leather with marbled paper covered boards. Very good. The covers are heavily rubbed. The underlying boards are exposed along the edges. Ex-Church Hospital Library copy. The front endsheet is cracked along the hinge, and has the remnants of a library label and an ink stamp. Ink stamp on the title page. The frontispiece page is browned. There is very occasional light foxing throughout the pages. The book is sturdy.

Includes an engraved frontispiece of Joseph Smith, "the prophet pronouncing the greek psalter to be a dictionary of Egyptian hieroglyphics". Early outsider's account of Mormonism. An important early anti-Mormon work published during Joseph Smith's lifetime. Flake/Draper 1237. Howes C235. Sabin 11478

Clark, Rev. John A. (Alonzo). Gleanings by the Way. Philadelphia, PA: W.J. & J.K. Simon, 1842. First Edition. 352pp. Small octavo [19.5 cm] Original brown cloth with decorative blind stamping to boards and title gilt stamped on backstrip. Very good. The cloth at the spine ends is chipped. The underlying boards are exposed along the edges. There is a contemporary gift inscription on the front free endsheet. The rear endsheet is covered with pencil scribbles.

An account of early Mormonism by an outsider. Rev. Clark was an Episcopal Minister who traveled and preached extensively during the Second Great Awakening, particularly in the burned over district of western New York and southern New England. It was during these travels that he encountered the Mormons in Palmyra. After these encounters he prepared a lengthy report that is contained in this volume (216-352 pp.) Although this book appears in many bibliographies it rarely come up for sale. Scarce. Flake/Draper 2388. Howes C44

Goodwin, S. H. Additional Studies in Mormonism and Masonry. Salt Lake City, UT: 1932. Early printing. 62pp. Octavo [22.5 cm] Beige printed wraps. The covers are subtly browned. Previous owner's name on the front cover. The rear cover has two very light moisture stains, and a thin pen mark.

R. Wright states, "One of the grave mistakes made by many Masonic historians in the past is that they considered Masonry an isolated phenomenon. Vast quantities of this purely institutional history have been written. It is necessary and has its place, but one soon realizes, on reading such pages, how futile it is always to separate the Craft from contemporary events and tendencies, though at first glance they may appear unrelated to it."

Green, N. W. (Nelson Winch). Mormonism: Its Rise, Progress, and Present

Condition. Embracing the Narrative of Mrs. Mary Ettie V. Smith, of Her Residence and Experience of Fifteen Years with the Mormons; Containing a Full and Authentic Account of Their Social Condition- Their Religious Doctrines, and Political Government.

Hartford: Belknap & Bliss, 1870. Early edition. 472pp. Duodecimo [19 cm] Green cloth covered boards with a gilt stamped title on the spine. Good only. The covers are rubbed. There is a very small light stain on the front board. The spine is subtly rolled. The cloth at the spine ends is slightly frayed. The text block is cracked several times. The pages are clean. The book is still quite sturdy.

From the title page- "Mrs. Smith was a sister of one of the Mormon High Priests, and was long in the confidence of 'Prophet' Brigham Young, and was personally acquainted with most of the Mormon Leaders. Flake/Draper 3708.

Gunnison, John Williams. The Mormons, or, Latter-Day Saints, in the Valley of the Great Salt Lake: A History of Their Rise and Progress, Peculiar Doctrines, Present Condition, and Prospects, Derived From Personal Observation, During A Residence Among Them. Philadelphia: Lippincott, Grambo & Co., 1853. Early edition. 168pp. Duodecimo [18 cm] Brown cloth with decorative blind stamping to boards and gilt stamped title on the spine. Very good. The edges of the covers are faded. There are very small losses from the cloth at the ends of the spine. There is a very small split in the cloth along the rear joint. The corners of the covers are gently bumped. The endsheets are heavily foxed, and the pages are lightly foxed. Previous owner's bookplate on the front pastedown. A few stains in the text on pp. 84/85. The book is sturdy.

John Gunnison was assigned as second-in-command of the Stansbury Expedition. The winter of 1849 was particularly harsh and the expedition was put on hold until the spring. Gunnison made use of the time to befriend and study the culture of the Mormon inhabitants of the Salt Lake Valley. A remarkably fair and unbiased account (for the time). Gunnison's account of life in early Salt Lake Valley, along with Stansbury and Fremont, form a trilogy of early and seminal accounts of what life was like in Utah, prior to the coming of the Mormons (Fremont) and early firsthand accounts of life in the valley during the first few years of Mormon inhabitation (Stansbury & Gunnison). Gunnison was later killed on the 26th of October 1853, near Delta, Utah, purportedly by Indians in what is known as the Gunnison Massacre. Flake/Draper 3750. Howes G463.

Hickman, William A. Brigham's Destroying Angel: Being the Life, Confession, and Startling Disclosures of the Notorious Bill Hickman, the Danite Chief of Utah. Salt Lake City: Shepard Publishing Company, Publishers, 1904. Third edition. 221pp. Duodecimo [17.5 cm] Red cloth with gilt title to backstrip and a gilt stamped portrait and facsimile signature of Hickman on the front board. Title stamped in black on front board. Very good. The edges of the covers are very lightly rubbed. There is a former owner's embossed stamp on the title page. This is a very attractive copy.

Frontis portrait of William A. Hickman. Illustrations throughout. Includes five pages of advertisements for Mormon and anti-Mormon books at the end. The Danites where a vigilante group founded in Far West Missouri that played a central role in the Missouri Mormon War. After 1838 the history of the Danites becomes a matter of some debate. What is not debatable is the scandalous nature of this account that was edited by J.H. Beadle who was a virulent anti-Mormon and the author of 'Mysteries and Crimes of Mormonism'. Flake/Draper 3991.

The Holy Scriptures. Translated and corrected by the spirit of revelation by Joseph Smith, Jr., the Seer. Plano: Ill.: Published by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Joseph Smith, I.L. Rogers, E. Robinson, Publishing Committee, 1867. First edition. 917, 286 pp. Thick duodecimo [18 cm] Rebacked with modern dark brown leather. Original leather spine label and light brown calf covered boards. Raised bands. Very good. The covers are lightly rubbed. The underlying boards are peeking through at the corners. Previous owner's faint ink stamp on the front free endsheet. Several pages have very minor hatching in pencil. The book is very sturdy. The New Testament is included under the title of: "The Holy Scriptures of the New Testament, translated and corrected by the spirit of revelation, Joseph Smith, Jr., the Seer."

Joseph Smith worked on his translation of the scriptures during the 1830's. With his death in 1844, the manuscript passed to his wife and it wasn't published until 1867. Though Smith's translations were based on the King James version of the Bible, he altered over 3,000 passages. According to the book's preface, the translation "was done by direct revelation from God." Flake/Draper 453.

Pratt, Orson. The Seer. Liverpool: Published by S.W. Richards, 1853. Volume 1, Number 1 - Volume 2, Number 8. 320 pp. Octavo. [21 cm] Contemporary 3/4 calf over marbled boards with title gilt stamped on backstrip. Very good. Light overall rubbing to boards, more so at corners. Contemporary gift inscription in ink on the front free endsheet.

Following the fall General Conference in 1852, Orson Pratt was called to preside of the eastern mission and to publish a periodical defending Mormon theology and practices, particularly polygamy. Eighteen issues were printed in Washington and Liverpool, as well as two additional issues printed only Liverpool.

Pratt covered many doctrinal issues including Celestial Marriage and the Preexistence. Brigham Young thought some of the ideas discussed were poorly conceived, and had the publication cease operation. In 1865 the LDS Church disowned the writings saying, "The Seer contains doctrines which we cannot sanction, and which we have felt impressed to disown, so that the Saints who now live, and who may live hereafter, may not be misled by our silence, or be left to misinterpret it. Where these objectionable works, or parts of works, are bound in volumes, or otherwise, they should be cut out and destroyed." We are offering all twenty issues for sale. Smith, Lucy Mack. Biographical Sketches of Joseph Smith the Prophet, and his Progenitors for Many Generations. Liverpool: Published for Orson Pratt by S.W. Richards; London: Sold at the Latter-Day Saints' Book Depot, 1853. First edition. 297pp. Sextodecimo [15.5 cm] Full Russian diced calf. Title gilt stamped on backstrip. Very good. Hinges have been professionally and seamlessly repaired. Minor bumping to corners. Institutional library ink stamp on the title page and again on the last page of the appendix. Light chipping to fore edge of the first few leaves.

This diminutive volume and the words contained therein have caused great controversy since its original publication. Lucy Mack Smith (1776-1856) wrote the memoir based on her family history and the religious revelations of her son Joseph Smith (1805-1844). With Lucy Smith's permission, but without the approval of LDS Church President Brigham Young (1801-1877), Orson Pratt, Sr. (1811-1881) published Biographical Sketches in Liverpool, England in 1853. Initially, the book was praised in a November 1854 Deseret News article which stated that "...many facts which it contains, and never before published, are of great importance to the world, and the work constitutes a valuable acquisition to the libraries of the Saints." Pratt, who was one of the Twelve Apostles of the LDS Church, frequently battled with Brigham Young over their differing religious theories. Young "...was really angry at Pratt over doctrinal matters and, about half the time, while dressing him down in public and in private, simply threw in Biographical Sketches for good measure." (Anderson, Lavina Fielding, ed. Lucy's Book: A Critical Edition of Lucy Mack Smith's Family Memoir. Salt Lake City: Signature Books, 2001; p. 101). Further evidence of this doctrinal feud becoming personal between the two men can be found in the October 21, 1865 edition of the Millennial Star (pp. 657-658). The First Presidency of the LDS Church openly condemns Biographical Sketches and advises: "...it should be gathered up and destroyed...In Great Britain, diligence has been used in collecting and in disposing of this work, and we wish that same diligence continued there and also exercised here, at home, until not a copy is left. The inquiry may arise in the minds of some persons, 'Why do you want to destroy this book?' Because, we are acquainted with individual circumstances alluded to in it, and know many of the statements to be false..."

The lengthy admonishment went on to state that, if any church members owned a copy: "...to dispose of it so it will never be read by any person again. If they do not, the responsibility of the evil results that may accrue from keeping it will rest upon them and not upon us...those who have been instructed respecting its character, and will still keep it on their tables, and have it in their houses... need rebuke, it is transmitting lies to posterity to take such a course, and we know that the curse of God will rest upon every one, after he comes to the knowledge of what is here said, who keeps these books for his children to learn and believe in lies. (Star pp. 657-658)

Subsequently, many of the books were destroyed. Individuals still owning copies were instructed to turn them over to their Bishops or to the church offices to be disposed of. People who voluntarily turned in their copies were paid with a credit towards their tithing or in other works of the church. For this reason, the Biographical Sketches of Joseph Smith the Prophet, and his Progenitors for Many Generations is a rare, controversial and historically important book. Flake/Draper 8080. Spencer, Orson. Letters Exhibiting the Most Prominent Doctrines of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Liverpool: William Budge, 1879. Sixth Edition. 232pp. Duodecimo [18.5 cm] Black cloth covered flexible boards. Good only. The covers are lightly rubbed. There is a 4 and 1/2 inch split in the cloth of the front cover along the joint. The endsheets are cracked along the hinges. A poem has been mounted to the top edge of the front free endsheet. The free endsheets are slightly darkened. There is very occasional underlining in pencil.

Orson Spencer served twelve years in the Baptist ministry before converting to Mormonism in 1841. The following year William Crowell, an acquaintance and the editor of the Baptist Christian Watchman, wrote to him, asking about his new religion. Crowell's letter and Spencer's response were published in the Times and Seasons of January 2, 1843, and in the Millennial Star that June and July. In May, he began a series of eleven additional letters to Crowell, which he printed in the Star and simultaneously issued in individual tracts. The following January, he published the twelve letters with two others in hardback under the title Letters Exhibiting the Most Prominent Doctrines of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter day Saints -the first of the major works, which unifies Mormon theology and hence is one of Mormonism's most important books. Before the end of the century, Spencer's Letter's went through six more editions. Flake/Draper 8332

Walker, Ronald W., Richard E. Turley Jr., & Glen M. Leonard. Massacre at Mountain Meadows An American Tragedy. New York: Oxford University Press, 2008. First edition 430pp. Octavo [42 cm] 1/4 black paper with purple paper covered boards. Fine/Fine.

"On September 11, 1857, a band of Mormon militia, under a flag of truce, lured unarmed members of a party of emigrants from their fortified encampment and, with their Paiute allies, killed them. More than 120 men, women, and children perished in the slaughter."

"Massacre at Mountain Meadows offers the most thoroughly researched account of the massacre ever written. ...This gripping narrative offers fascinating new insight into why Mormon settlers in isolated southern Utah deceived the emigrant party with a promise of safety and then killed the adults and all but seventeen of the youngest children. Throughout the book, the authors paint finely drawn portraits of the key players in the drama."

"The Mountain Meadows Massacre stands as one of the darkest events in Mormon history. Neither a whitewash nor an expose, Massacre at Mountain Meadows provides the clearest and most accurate account of a key event in American religious history." Hardcover. This is an early printing, signed by all three authors. The first printing of this book, which consisted of 6500 copies, is now sold out. Signed by all three authors in ink on the title page.

Ward, Thomas (ed.). Latter-day Saints' Millennial Star, Volume V. Liverpool: James and Woodburn, Printers, 1844. 200pp. Octavo [21.5 cm] 3/4 calf over marbled boards. Very Good. Light rubbing to extremities. Front joint splitting at head and foot. Title page is loose and laid in. Sporadic foxing to endsheets and pastedown. Endsheets and pastedowns chipped at foot with subtle losses. Leather bound.

This Millennial Star contains the "Trial of Sidney Rigdon "and "Awful Assassination". The trial of Sidney Rigdon pertains to elder Rigdon ordaining his own "Prophets, Priests and Kings". Brigham Young compares Rigdon and his actions to those of James Strang and the Strangites. The supplement, 'Awful Assassination' brought the details of the Smith brother's martyrdom to the British and European Saints. The Millennial Star during this time period was one of the only LDS periodicals, and this supplement is where many of the scattered faithful would have received the news of the Prophet Joseph Smith's murder.
