

1. Beresford, Quentin; Garry Bailey. Search for the Tasmanian Tiger. Sandy Bay, Tasmania, Australia: Blubber Head Press, 1981. First edition. ISBN: 090852806x. 54pp. Small square octavo [19.5 cm] Pictorial wraps, with only light wear to the wraps. Near fine. $40

From the publisher- "Search for the Tasmanian Tiger records the story of the thylacine, yesterday and today; the first contacts with settlers, the war against the animal, its slide towards extinction and its life in captivity. The various search parties, sent out this century in an attempt to locate and preserve survivors, are detailed. The conflicting opinions of experts, as to whether a live tiger can yet be discovered, are given. Supporting the text are many rare drawings and photographs of the tiger, the majority being previously unpublished."

2. Napier, John. Bigfoot: The Yeti and Sasquatch in Myth and Reality. New York: E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc, 1973. First edition. ISBN: 0525066586. 240pp. Octavo [21.5 cm] Bright orange cloth over boards. In a dust jacket, with light scratching to the panels. Illustrated. Ex-libris UFO enthusiast George W. Earley, with his bookplate on the front pastedown. Earley was a U.S. engineer and editor. He was involved in science fiction fandom during the 1940s. He is the author of "Encounters with Aliens: UFOs and Alien Beings in Science Fiction." Very good + in a very good dust jacket. $40

The author's goal in "Bigfoot" is to disentangle the legend from the living animal.

3. Cohen, Daniel. Monsters You Never Heard Of. New York: Dodd, Mead & Company, 1980. First edition. 112pp. Octavo [21.5 cm] Mustard yellow cloth over boards. Illustrated with photographs and prints. The text block is just a trifle wavy. In the bright pictorial dust jacket, with minor sunning to the spine and very minimal edge wear. 4. Gould, R. T. The Case for the Sea-Serpent. London: Philip Allan, 1930. First edition. 291pp. Octavo [22.5 cm] Blue cloth over boards. Map pastedowns. Spine and front board sunned and a bit discolored. Front hinge a bit soft. Text block cracked at the title page. Frontispiece detached, but present. In a "xeroxed" dust jacket. Original dust jacket not present. Good. $350

A first edition of R. T. Gould's classic examination of the sea-serpent.

The author states:

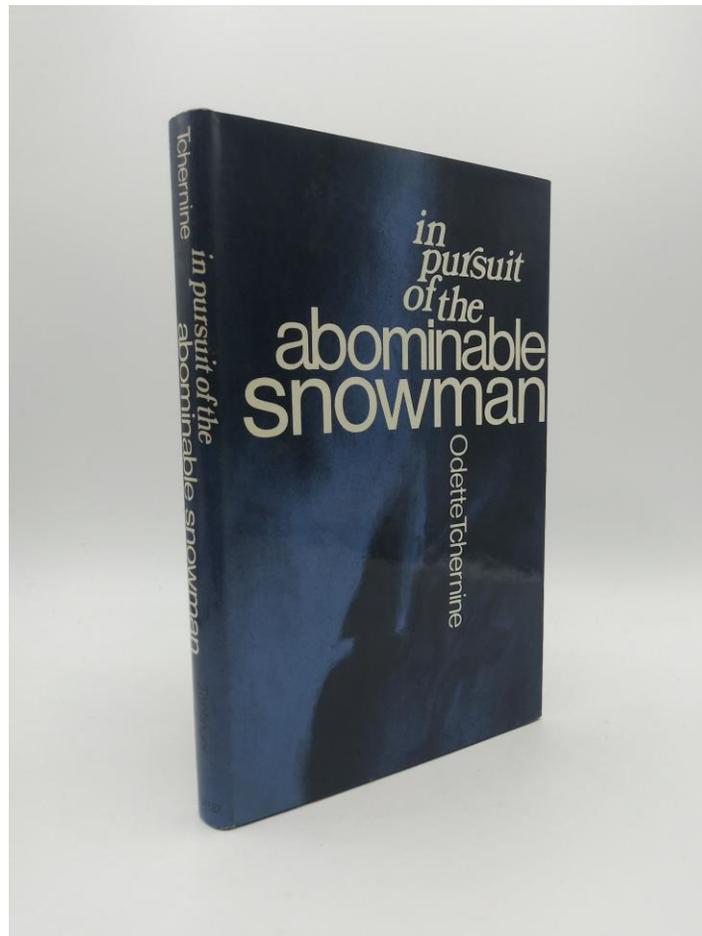

"I feel that an apology, or at least an explanation, is necessary for a book dealing with such a 'fo'c'sle yarn' as the sea-serpent.

"My excuse must be, that I believe in the sea-serpent. I have long been interested in the subject, and I should have devoted an essay to it in one of my two former books, Oddities and Enigmas, had I not become convinced that it could not be treated in so limited a space."

6. Tchernine, Odette. In Pursuit of the Abominable Snowman [Russian Investigations]. New York: Taplinger Publishing Company, 1971. First American edition. 184pp. Octavo [21.5 cm] Pale blue cloth over boards. The extremities are just a hair rubbed, and the front cover is a trifle warped. In a dust jacket, with very light rubbing and scratching to the surface. Very good + in very good dust jacket. $100

From the dust jacket- "The Abominable Snowman- or Yeti- has long been one of the mysteries of the world. In the forefront of those seeking to unravel its secret have been the Russians- explorers, mountain climbers, scientists. This authoritative study, remarkable in many of its disclosures, attempts to extract the truth about a phenomenon of nature that has been feared and ridiculed for centuries. Far from being confined to the Himalayas, as popular knowledge would have it, the Abominable Snowman has been sighted in many parts of the world."

From the opening text-

"There is a certain Indian tribe in Minnesota whose people have a legend about a mysterious spiritual being that leaves behind strange tracks on the ice to mark its passage through the world of men.

"Since 1898 at least 70 separate incidents have occurred in Minnesota (and probably many more that have gone unreported) to indicate that the state is home to a large apelike or manlike creature known as the sasquatch."
